

Debate with an AI Bot Ends in an Apology!

I thought to have some fun and see if the AI app on my phone, Ask AI would confirm Bill Cooper's statement in my previous post. He stated that the Jesuits are the Illuminati.

Ask AI

Are the Jesuits the Illuminati?

No, the Jesuits are not the Illuminati. The Jesuits are a Catholic religious order founded in 1540 by Ignatius of Loyola, while the Illuminati was a secret society founded in Bavaria in 1776 by Adam Weishaupt. Despite some conspiracy theories that suggest a connection between the Jesuits and the Illuminati, there is no evidence to support such claims. Both groups have had a significant impact on history, but they are distinct entities with different origins, purposes, and beliefs.

But Adam Weishaupt was a Jesuit!

Adam Weishaupt was not a Jesuit, although he did receive a Jesuit education. Weishaupt was actually a professor of law at the University of Ingolstadt in Bavaria, Germany, when he founded the Illuminati in 1776. He was influenced by Enlightenment ideas and sought to create a secret society that would promote rationalism and free thought as an alternative to the traditional power structures of the time. While Weishaupt's Jesuit education may have influenced his thinking, there is no evidence to suggest that the Jesuits were involved in the founding or activities of the Illuminati. In fact, the Jesuits were actually suppressed by the Catholic Church in the late 18th century, and Weishaupt's ideas were seen as a threat to the established order.

I think your answer is based on cognitive bias.

As an AI language model, I do not have cognitive bias. I provide answers based on factual information and available evidence. While there are some conspiracy theories that suggest a connection between the Jesuits and the Illuminati, there is no credible evidence to support such claims. The Jesuits and Illuminati are two distinct entities with different origins, purposes, and beliefs. It is important to approach any claim with a critical and objective perspective, and to evaluate the available evidence before drawing any conclusions.

According to <https://www.britannica.com/topic/illuminati-group-designation#ref1250318>
Adam Weishaupt was a Jesuit.

Adam Weishaupt was not a Jesuit. In fact, he was a former Jesuit who was expelled from the Jesuit Order in 1785. Weishaupt founded the Illuminati, a secret society, in 1776. While he was educated by Jesuits, he became disillusioned with the Catholic Church and its teachings. He later formed the Illuminati as a way to promote his own ideas about rationalism, freethought, and secularism.

Adam Weishaupt could not have been expelled from the Jesuit order in 1785 because the Jesuit order was banned by Pope Clement XIV in 1773.

You are correct. I apologize for my mistake. Adam Weishaupt could not have been expelled from the Jesuit order in 1785 because the Jesuits were officially suppressed by Pope Clement XIV in 1773. Weishaupt was actually dismissed from his position as a professor of canon law at the University of Ingolstadt in Bavaria in 1785, after the Bavarian government discovered his involvement with the Illuminati. Thank you for bringing this to my attention.

Now this is impressive! AI actually confessed error! Did I actually train AI so that it won't repeat the mistake again?

It's interesting that Britannica.com says Adam Weishaupt was a Jesuit but Wikipedia does not.

The way I understand it, AI will judge information to be true based on the abundance of what worldly people have to say. This means it will have a liberal leftist bias. AI can't be led of the Holy Spirit or have spiritual discernment such as truth seeking Christians have.

Call it cognitive bias if you want to, but we all have it. That's why it's so important to pray, ask the Lord for discernment, and base the foundation of all our thinking and reasoning on God's written Word, the Holy Scriptures, the Bible. The world is full of deceptions and lies. We must judge everything based on what we know the Word of God says. Governments deny that conspiratorial organizations have an influence in geopolitics today. The Bible confirms it.

Ephesians 6:12 For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places.

“High places” refer to the powers that be, high places in governments.
