

Ron Paul – Why Alex Jones Can Work for the Elite & Expose them

I told a buddy recently that I don't like to voice mere opinions on my blog, but I do feel a need to warn my friends who didn't know about Alex Jones until very recently and suddenly became interested in him.

OK, Ron Paul did not specifically mention Alex Jones in this talk, but I do believe it can apply to him. And the YouTube title has his name.

I started to wonder about Ron Paul as well. The very fact he knows the significance of Carroll Quigley's "Tragedy and Hope" tells me he is fully aware of the true political situation of this world, and that he should know he doesn't have a snowball's chance in hell of changing anything for the better. Would not therefore Senator Paul's followers have false hopes for change? But I take my hat off to him for his excellent explanation about how a person can work for the Elite and expose them at the same time.

The true mark of a messenger of Truth is persecution. Who has received some heavy duty persecution for their message? Some of my heroes:

- William Cooper who wrote "Behold a Pale Horse", killed in a shoot out with "authorities". I do not believe he fired the first shot, but was defending himself.
- John Todd, the first person who opened my eyes to the hidden rulers of this world. He was framed and convicted for rape.
- Alberto Rivera, a former Jesuit priest who exposed Jesuit plans. He was eventually murdered by poison.

Alex Jones does seem to be informative, but he doesn't expose all the ones who need to be exposed. He breeds fear. Just the fact that his show has gone on so long, and the fact that he tries to shift the blame away from Zionists is enough reason for me not to listen to him anymore.

For the record, being against Zionism is not the same thing as Antisemitism.

What about famous evangelists like Billy Graham? Has he ever received any opposition or persecution? You can do your own research about him.

Update on September 30, 2022

Alex Jones fans may refute this article saying that Jones was indeed persecuted by the Establishment because of recent court cases, but I would not call propagating false information about the Sandy Hook school shooting massacre persecution for righteousness' sake! He justly faced litigation from parents who lost their children. He called them liars and "crisis actors". I call him a crisis actor.
